

Renters

Conducted by YouGov on behalf of SafeguardEurope
Fieldwork Dates: 28th March - 1st April 2019

Renters

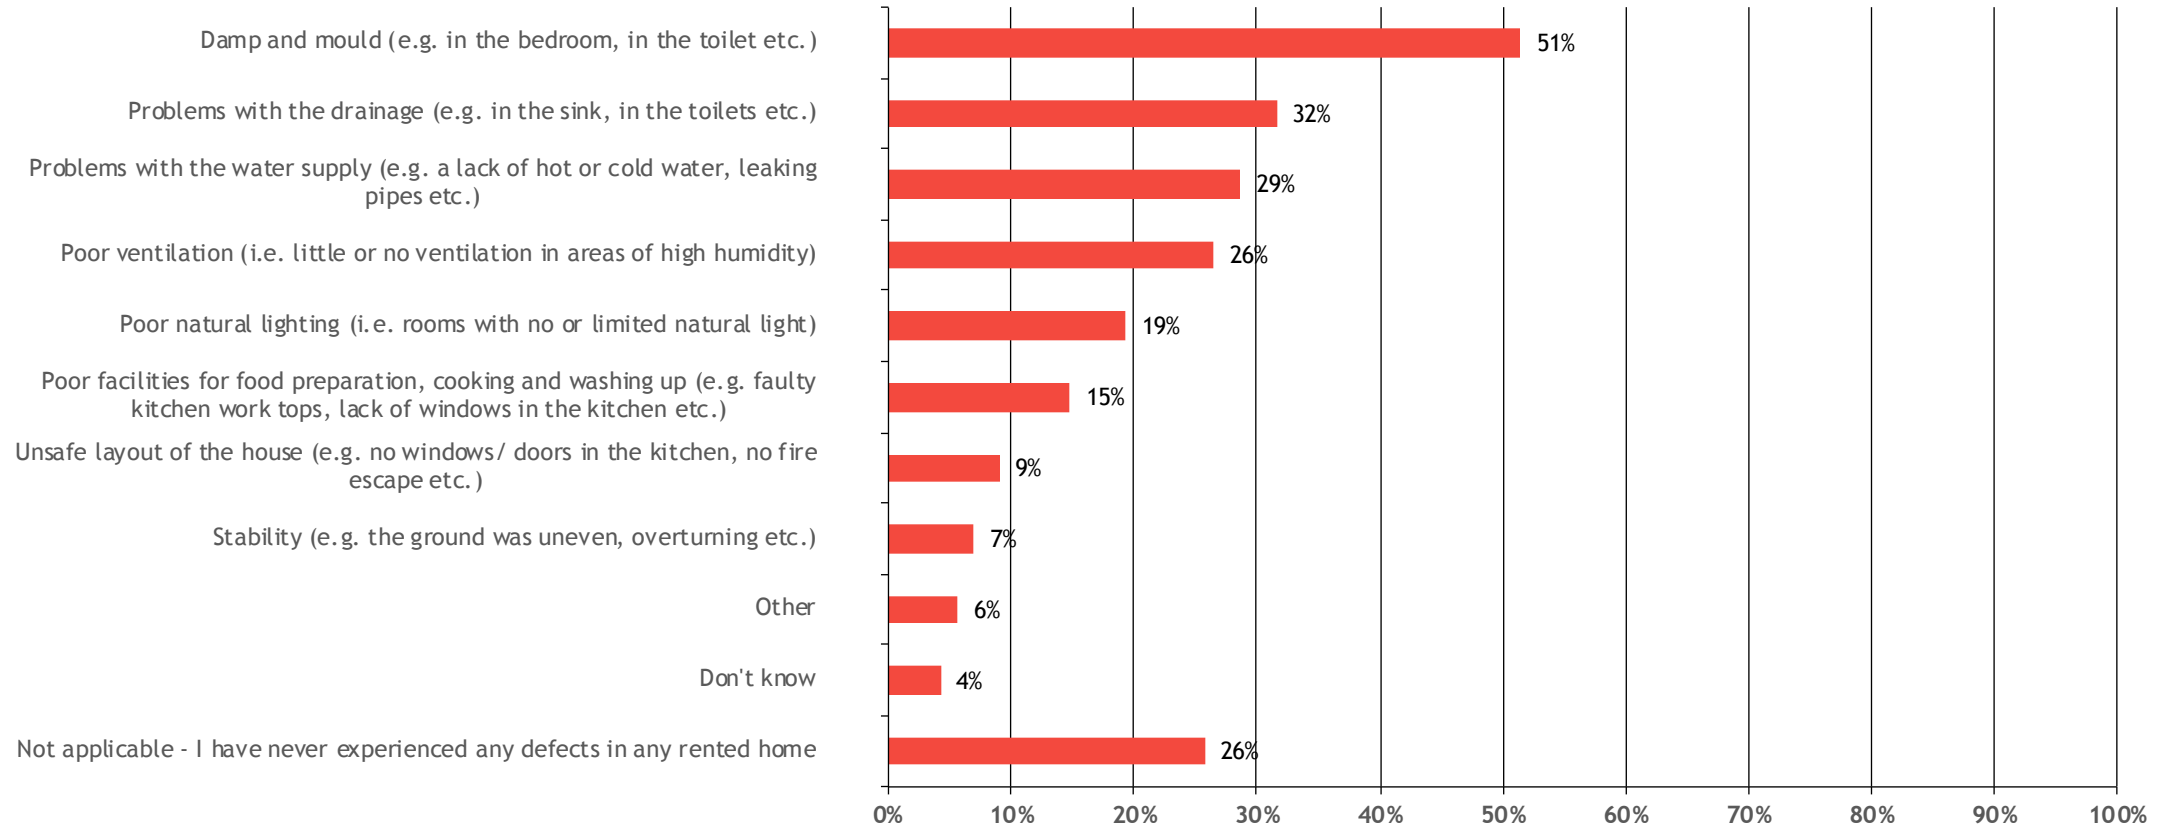

CSR_Q1. You previously mentioned that you rent your home. For the following question, if your rent payments are not paid per month, please give an estimate of how much rent you pay per month. Approximately, how much are your monthly rent payments overall? (Please select the option that best applies)

Unweighted base: All UK adults who rent (1154)

Renters

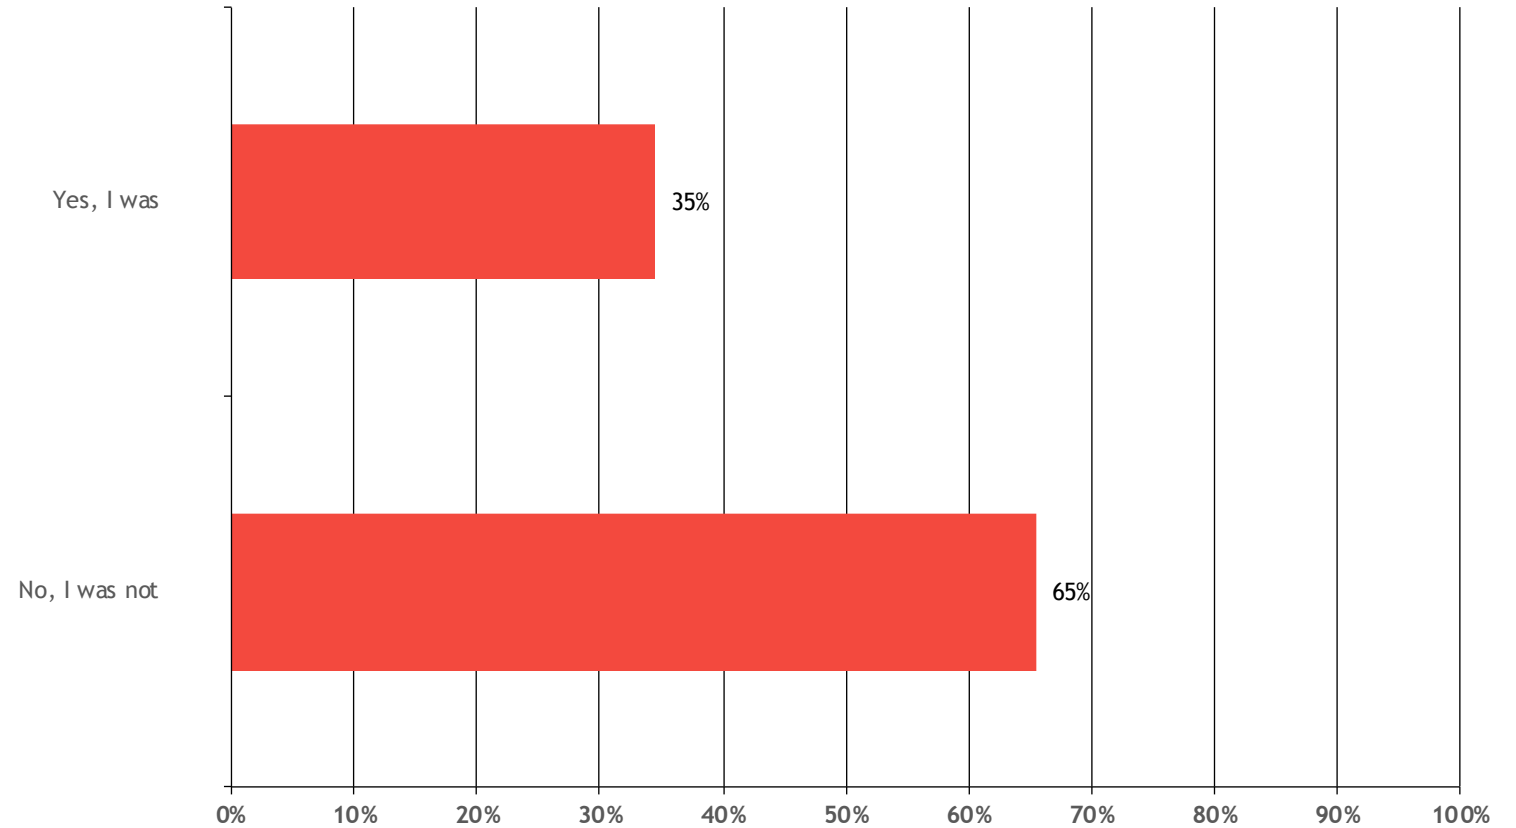

CSE_Q3a. For the following question, please think about ANY home you have rented. Which, if any, of the following defects have you EVER experienced in a home you were/ are renting? (Please select all that apply, if any of your answers do not appear in the list below, please type them in the "Other" box provided. If you have never experienced any defects in any rented home, please select the "Not applicable" option)

Unweighted base: All UK adults who rent (1154)

Renters

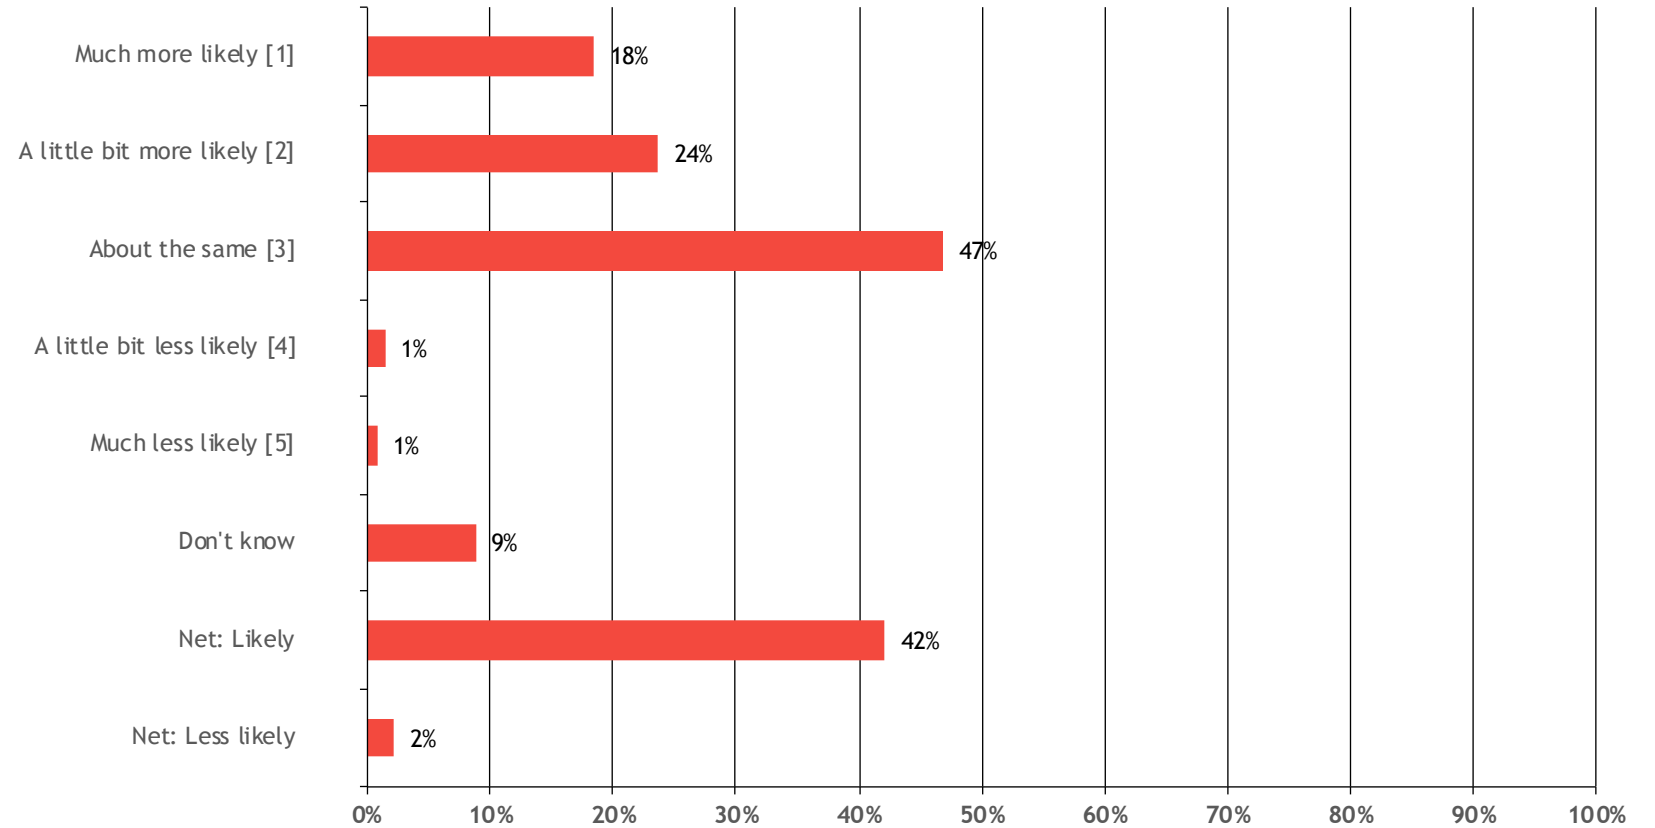

CSE_Q2. In March 2019, the new Homes (Fitness for Human Habitation) Act 2018 came into affect to make sure that rented houses and flats are 'fit for human habitation'. This means that they are safe and free from things that could cause serious harm to tenants. This law gives tenants new rights to take their landlord to court in the event that certain types of repairs are not carried out. Before taking this survey, were you aware of this new law?

Renters

CSE_Q4. As a reminder, in March 2019, the new Homes (Fitness for Human Habitation) Act 2018 came into affect to make sure that rented houses and flats are 'fit for human habitation'. This means that they are safe and free from things that could cause serious harm to tenants. This law gives tenants new rights to take their landlord to court in the event that certain types of repairs are not carried out. As a result of the new Homes (Fitness for Human Habitation) Act 2018, would you be more or less likely to complain to your landlord/ housing association about defects in your rented home than before, or would you be about the same? (Please select the option that best applies)

Unweighted base: All UK adults who rent (1154)
